THE FAMOUS DE LONGUEVILLE COLLECTION OF CHINESE COPPER COINS.

This collection was formed by Captain de Longueville of the Chinese Imperial Maritime Customs, who died in 1878; it was purchased at the sale of his effects by a Mr. John Pitman, a well-known resident in Canton, who in 1891 wrote a letter in which he alluded to the collection and said "for which I was offered at the Amsterdam Exhibition £700 with catalogue." In 1892 Captain de Longueville's catalogue was printed in English at the "China Mail" office in Hong Kong; this is well-known, and the tables given in it show not only the collection itself, but the other coins for which space had been left in his trays. Of the Chinese coins most difficult to procure, those of the Southern Sung dynasty, the rebels, the small dynasties and of the various Mints of the last dynasty, appear in this collection fairly complete.

The collection of coins comprises:— Ancient Chinese coins from B.C. to A.D. 550, Pu coins, knife coins and round coins of the Han and Ch'in dynasties (76), T'ang (150), Revolutionary period (43), Northern Sung (295), Southern Sung (310), Kin (14), Yuen (16), the State of Wu (3), Ming (223), Ming Pretenders and rebels (98), Ching (514); also similar coins of Annan (167), Corea (5), and Japan (56). All of these are arranged on tabulated cards, on trays, to which they are attached by clips. The cards have spaces left for additions and drawings are made of these missing pieces. In many instances, the coins are in pairs showing obverse and reverse. In addition to the above are 62 coins in a bag, which have come off the cards; this makes 2,032 coins in all.

In addition there are:— Tokens and lucky coins (42), chess figures (6), coins of the Eight Genii (8), Temple medals of the Eight Diagrams (23), other medals or tokens (53), amulets (30); in all 162 pieces. Also there are two copies of the catalogue referred to above and Vol. I and II of Stewart Lockhart's book "The Currency of the Further East."

The collection is housed in four tin boxes with fourteen trays in each and in two smaller wooden boxes 2,204

of Coins and Medals.

*A*FTER each sale these catalogues are issued with the prices realised printed in the margin opposite each lot, thus giving at a glance a reliable guide to values.

The final test of value must always be auction prices rather than the figures given in books of reference, for changing times and fashions soon render the latter obsolete and misleading.

On the average we issue twelve Coin and Medal catalogues a year, some of which are usually of sales of important collections. The priced catalogues are posted to subscribers as soon as ready, usually about a week after the date of sale and the subscription is
